CAMPBELL, SANTA CLARA COUNTY, CALIFORNIA.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 7, 1928

Possibility of Tulare and Porterville co-operative poultry associations marketing their produce as a single unit was discussed at a joint meeting of the two organizations held here recently. A committee was appointed to investigate and will report at a joint session of officers in Tulare early in September.

A cow from the herd of Ramseler Brothers, Oxnard, led the July competition of the Ventura County Farm Bureau Cow Testing Association, with a butter-fat production of 72.9 pounds, according to the recently released report of Sydney A. Anderson, assistant farm adviser of Ventura county, and H. A. Anderson, tester for the association. Union Brothers of Oxnard had second high cow, with 64.8 pounds and the McGrath herd of Oxnard furnished a third and fourth, with 61.4 pounds and 62.2 pounds, respectively. Eight herds are under test in the association.

Seven thousand five hundred boys and girls, members of the 4-H Agricultural clubs in work conducted by the University of California Agricultural Extension Service, will receive achievement pins from the California Bankers' Association this year. In 1927, 65,000 received the pins.

The matter of marketing this year's crop will be discussed by the olive growers of Woodlake district with the hope that a pool of all local olives may be effected. There is a market for all olives grown this year, it is said, and buyers are now in the field. It is the belief of those in close touch with the situation that by pooling the local output that a better price will result for the whole lot than would be possible where every grower attempts to sell his own, and it is hoped that some plan will be worked out next Wednesday that will be of mutual benefit to the local growers.

The Southern Sierras Power Company has been granted permission by the Railroad Commission to reduce its rates to the extent of a reduction in its annual revenue of $175,000, effective September 9, 1928. In authorizing this voluntary reduction the Commission calls attention to the fact that the company has pending before the Commission an application for a revaluation of its properties and an increase of its rates, based upon evidence presented by the company indicating that the revaluation would result in a revision upwards in the rates if a fair return upon its claimed valuation is allowed. The Commission authorized the reduction, subject to whatever bearing such reduction may have upon the pending proceedings, which are still before the Commission.

Further proof that California's farmers stand supreme among the nation's agriculturists was disclosed in a report made public this week in which it was shown that this State leads all others in the number of farm tractors per crop land area. Of the 768,325 estimated total of tractors on United States farms in the spring of the current year California farmers owned 46,044. This figure placed the State first with 543 tractors for each 100,000 acres of crop land, reckoning that in the 136,409 farms, according to the 1925 census of the Department of Agriculture there were contained 8,491,342 acres, it was revealed in the analysis prepared for B. V. Curry, general manager of the Towner Manufacturing Company, Santa Ana, agricultural advisers and implement makers.

"If shipments for the next two or three weeks are limited to nothing lower than U. S. No. 1 juice grades, the market may be recovered. Limitation of the quantity supplied to the market will also be influential in building up a better demand. Shipment of No. 2 grade at this time will probably result in red ink and freight charges to be paid by the shipper.

A field meeting of the grape growers of Madera county was held last week at the Peter Wahl place. It was arranged by Farm Advisor E. L. Garthwaite. This meeting gave the grape growers an opportunity to have the sugar content of their grapes tested. H. E. Jacobs of the Department of Viticulture of the University of California spoke on "Improving the quality of Fresh and Dried Grapes," and also on "Control of the Grape Leaf Hopper." He spoke at another meeting the same day at 1:30 p. m. on the E. Feichtmeier vineyard, on Robertson boulevard.

Golden State News of Interest to All

A through air service between San Diego and Vancouver, B. C., will begin this week as a result of an agreement reached between officials of the Union Air Lines, Inc., the Maddux Air Lines and the Pickwick Airways of Los Angeles. It was announced. More than 1,000 offices and ticket agencies along the coast will handle reservations for the trip.

The Women Lawyers' Club of Los Angeles filed articles of incorporation with Secretary of State Jordan last week. The club was formed for the "advancement of the legal profession and for the general promotion of women along educational lines," the article stated. Peggy Halloran was named as the president.

Believed to be the oldest building in Lindsay and known to be its first post-office and general store, the frame structure at the corner of Honolulu and Mt. Vernon avenues is being torn down by its present owner, D. C. Smith, to make way for the erection of a modern building. The landmark was built by Capt. A. J. Hutchinson, founder of Lindsay, in 1889, when the surrounding land was devoted to wheat farming.

Somewhat contrary to expectation most of the desirable property offered at the delinquent tax sale of the Oakdale Irrigation District was sold. It was believed that the action of the Legislature in cutting down the interest rate on irrigation property might effect its salability, but this did not prove to be the case.

Building contracts calling for expenditures of approximately $120,000 at the San Francisco State Teachers' College and the Sonoma State Home for Feeble minded were approved by Bert B. Meek, State director of public works.

First landing at Hanford's new airport was made last week by Cal Callaghan of Visalia, commercial flyer, during an inspection of the field by Maj. H. B. Clagett from the Presidio, San Francisco, air officer of the Ninth Corps Area, accompanied by Capt. A. W. Brock, U. S. air service, who is on his way to Manila.

Exports of sardines from San Francisco during June of this year were 17,998,000 pounds worth $1,490,000, a gain of nearly 2,000,000 pounds and over $100,000 over June, 1927. Los Angeles, in June of this year, exported 16,284,520 pounds, worth $1,255,961.

Replacing the old bi-monthly publication, St. Mary's College is to have a new collegiate publication to be issued each Thursday during the school term. Brother Virgil, F. S. C., English instructor, will be faculty advisor to the staff, which will include Arthur Sherry, editor; Edward Dennis, assistant editor; Carl Featherstone, business manager; Joe Costa, advertising manager; Willard Ridings, news editor; Russell Wing, assistant news editor; Harry Bertain, literary editor; Walter Pistochini, alumni editor, and Ellsworth Heinze, sports editor.

Motor Coach Company has applied to the Railroad Commission for certificate to operate auto passenger service between Long Beach and Ferry Landing, East San Pedro, in conjunction with its present service being operated over various routes in Los Angeles County.

Service, leadership and scholarship are objects of Mortar Board, national senior honorary society of women's organizations located in thirty-eight universities in the United States, seventy-five delegates of which gathered at the Camp Curry auditorium for a three day biennial convention.

Only pleasure planes flying into California need register and have their pilots certified, Attorney General U. S. Webb ruled last week in an opinion on the State aircraft law of 1921. He formulated the opinion upon request of the State division of motor vehicles in order to clarify the law. Commercial planes in interstate service, since they carry Federal licenses, are exempt from the law, he said, as are all Government planes.

Representative H. E. Barbour of the Seventh California Congressional District has been named chairman of the War Department Sub-Committee of the House of Representatives committee on appropriations, according to word received at his home from Washington, D. C.

The California Oil industry is in a satisfactory condition and is showing constant improvement, says James A. Talbot, president of the Richfield Oil Company. He predicts that gasoline production and consumption will break all records in the State, and looks for an increase in gasoline prices in keeping with the recent crude prices.

Marie E. Myers, 31, of Yountville, was last week sentenced to serve a

The Misfit

He is like the tempestuous ocean
That ever dashes fiercely to the shore,
To break itself against the rocks,
And then steal back into the depths again.
He thought that he would rather be
Like a little placid lake,
Lapping ceaselessly against a beach of yellow sand,
With the moon's soft glow to light his life.
But he grew weary of the small soft plash he made,
Grew weary of forever creeping gently to the shore,
And he longed for the great surge and the tearing pain
Of rushing madly up against the cruel rocks.
So he is once again wearing away his life,
Impotently beating against the unyielding coast,
Then stealing back, defeated, bruised and weak
To gather strength, to but surge forth again.

WOMAN'S CLUB TO RESUME MEETINGS

The advent of fall sees a revival of activities along many lines and among them will be the resumption of meetings of the Country Woman's club on Monday, Sept. 17.

The program committee has designated that afternoon as guest day and officers and members in charge are hoping to greet all the present members, some who have withdrawn in past years and many more who might like to join.

All who are interested in promoting the library and its activities and in keeping up the building which is an object of civic pride among us, and to enjoy the pleasures of literary and social contact will be cordially welcomed.

The meetings have been plan-year in the county jail when he pleaded guilty before Superior Judge Percy S. King to illegal possession of narcotics. Myers, it is alleged, had been peddling drugs at the veterans' home.

With blistered hands and singed eyebrows, a score of the best-known men in California limped wearily back to the Brockway Hotel on Lake Tahoe. They came back victorious after an 18-hour fight against a menacing forest fire which threatened the mountain resort.

JAPANESE SCHOLAR AT THE STATE FAIR

The girl who represented this county in the spelling bee at the Sacramento state fair was Miss Aya Mineta of San Jose. She was a pupil last year in the eighth grade of the Jefferson school of which Mrs. Marie Mace Gard was teacher.

Miss Mineta, who is a Japanese, came through the all day contest of spelling with only one error. There were two who had no mistakes and three with three errors. The contest was called off late in the day for lack of words.

Mrs. Gard accompanied her pupil and is naturally proud of her achievement.

In a letter from Mrs. J.F. Stull (nee Charlotte Davis) who is now living in Whittier, she speaks of recently entertaining two former Campbell girls, Mabel and Pearl St. Johns, both now married. She did not mention their married names, but said that Pearl lived in Pasadena, and Mabel, who is a widow, is caring for an invalid mother. The two brothers, Ivan and Hollie, also live near.

ned with the idea of providing a variety of interesting programs to appeal to different tastes, with a few social events to provide pleasant entertainment.

ROWELL FAVORS BOULDER DAM

Boulder Dam is the paramount issue in California, in the opinion of Chester H. Rowell, writer and former newspaper editor, and on this great issue Governor Smith is completely out of step with the people of California, Rowell states.

In a published comment on Governor Smith's acceptance speech, Rowell finds that Smith is against the Boulder canyon dam, and against any dam in the Colorado river built by the federal government. This opposition, Rowell asserts, will constitute a great handicap to the New York man in winning California votes for himself.

"There can be no two sides in California toward the greatest constructive project in the history of America," Rowell writes, "the major part of whose benefits, by the very laws of nature, must flow to California. What California thinks, and what California cares, on this subject was shown clearly at the August primary. California will not think otherwise, nor care less, in November.

"That issue is now drawn sharply between the presidential candidates. Hoover is aggressively for and Smith positively against this great western project. Hoover understands it intimately and favors it enthusiastically. Smith is grotesquely ignorant of it and announces a policy toward it which would mean, at best, its indefinite postponement in any form and its total and permanent repudiation as a federal enterprise.

"Hoover is for the largest storage and the highest dam at Boulder canyon which the engineers find physically feasible, and for the passage of the measure by the senate (it has already passed the house) at the coming session. Smith is against a high dam, or a low dam, or any sort of a dam at Boulder canyon or anywhere federal enterprise or out of federal funds.

"He said so in his speech of acceptance. The only interest of the federal government, he said, is in navigation. The experience of the only two men who, at the risk of their lives, ever succeeded in navigating this portion of the Colorado river, even in small boats, indicates how small that interest is. Niagara has been navigated more often and more safely.

"Instead, Smith proposes that the whole federal project be given up, and that the seven states get together and do whatever they can agree on themselves. How long it would take all seven of them to agree, without leadership or coordination, may be estimated by the length of time in which they have not agreed, even with federal cooperation and Secretary Hoover's leadership.

"How much longer it would take them to decide to tax their own people for the entire cost, and to agree on the distribution of investments and benefits, any Californian can guess. Long before that time could elapse the Imperial valley would be at the bottom of a salt sea, and the growth of Southern California would have been paralyzed."

DISTRICT DEPUTY ATTENDS MEET

District Deputy President Bessie Bettinger of the Rebekahs made her official visit to the Ada lodge Wednesday evening and gave some interesting information for the order. Following regular meeting refreshments were served.

At the next meeting, Sept. 18, a special program will be given appropriate to the 77th anniversary of the Order of Rebekahs. W. R. Coupland is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for the entire evening.

KIWANIS TO HOLD LAST EVE. SESSION

The Kiwanis program hour Tuesday was well cared for by Nic Hedegard who told the assembly more interesting notes on Denmark, his homeland.

Education is of prime importance and the schools receive much aid from the central government. A youth desiring a vocational education and not having funds sufficient may, by making proper application endorsed by his instructor, secure state aid to help carry him through the school giving such special schooling. This is not as a loan but more as a deserved scholarship.

Denmark has no navy and only such an army as is necessary to do police duty within its borders. The nation, being a weak one, is dependent on its neighbors for protection. It has always been a strong advocate of peace.

Mr. Hedegard also told some interesting notes about France in the war-torn region where he visited on his last tour of Europe.

Tuesday evening will be the last evening luncheon of the club this season and Hal Morton will be the chairman.

STEELE HOME SCENE OF PRETTY WEDDING

A pretty wedding took place at the home of Mrs. Lulu Steele of Campbell at noon, Monday, Sept. 3, when Miss Stella Lawson of San Francisco and Herman Bruns of Antioch were united in marriage.

The bride and groom entered the parlors to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march played by Miss Alice Edwards of San Jose. The vows were solemnized by the Rev. C. F. Withrow of Antioch.

The bride was charming in a gown of pale rose georgette and carried a bouquet of white roses.

Following the ceremony the couple received the congratulations and best wishes of friends and relatives who were present. A dainty wedding luncheon was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruns left for a motor trip up the Redwood highway and on their return will make their home in Antioch where Mr. Bruns is in business.

METHODIST CHURCH FINANCES ARE GOOD

The conference year of the Methodist church is at an end and W. C. Robins, pastor, reports finances in good shape. The church has raised $2,260 for ministerial support; pastor, $1,800; retired ministers, $291; superintendent, $144, and bishop, $25. For missionary work at home and abroad more than $1,000 besides incidental expense which is considerable, was raised.

The church is a growing concern, according to Mr. Robins, and should have the support of every family in the community. "The church," said Mr. Robins, "is of vital importance—equal with that of the public school. The one develops the mind and the church puts moral and spiritual truth into the soul. It costs to run both. We appeal for your presence at our services and for your financial backing."

Miss Boena Kalas left Monday for Stockton to resume her work at the College of Pacific. During the summer Miss Kalas attended a master class for pianists in San Francisco, coaching under Madam Liszniewski, distinguished pianist and pedagogue.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Whitman and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. L. Parso left Thursday morning for a visit to the State Fair at Sacramento.

Chamber of Commerce meeting postponed to Sept. 17 on account of Admission Day holiday.

Mrs. A. E. Bargas received word yesterday of the death of her cousin, Mrs. Clar Housam. Mr. and Mrs. Bargas and family left at once for Visalia, where the funeral services were to be held.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Abbott and daughters returned Wednesday from Meyers in the Sierras where they have spent the summers.

Mrs. Olga Weiss, former school nurse for Campbell, who had been visiting Mrs. Claude Gard, accompanied her last Friday when she left for Sacramento.

John Church, who had been visiting his sister, Mrs. Hattie Baugh, for the past week, returned to his home at Richmond Monday.

Mrs. Fred Pannell and daughter Lorraine, who had been visiting here, left Friday for their home at Roseville, stopping at Fern Hill on the way.

Charles Mitchell of San Jose and Helen Jones of Los Gatos, whose engagement was recently announced, have made application for a marriage license, which was scheduled for today.

Mr. Mitchell was at one time connected with the pit cracking plant at Vasona Junction, but for the past two seasons has been in the selling department of the Geo. E. Hyde & Co. plant. The best of wishes are extended the young people.

Our Sidelines of Life

Miss Alice Lindsay Webb, who broadcasts her book reviews over the radio, was a caller at the Campbell Press last week and speaking of her work, she said, "No, I don't get any pay for it. It is a labor of love for me. I find that so many people, when they get old and want to retire, have nothing to occupy their minds with, and they are miserable. So if I can teach them the value of reading good books as a sideline I think I am contributing something to the beauty of their lives."

Indeed, Miss Webb is doing something very worthy for a very large number of people. If we thought more of our "sidelines" how much more pleasant life would be. An appreciation of good books or the appreciation of art and drama, and music, or even the appreciation of a beautiful flower garden would make the late years of life more bearable. Business or professional people possessing such a cultivated gift would have less fear of boredom when it came time to step out of the harness.

And Men Must Eat

Going off on a polar expedition is slightly a different proposition from say a two weeks' camping jaunt up in the Sierras, or a rest at a beach. Laying in supplies for a two and half years' cruise such as Byrd's expedition to the South pole will be, requires some careful and cautious planning for there are no cash and carry stores in these lands of perpetual snow and ice. If they overlook the dill pickles then there are no dill pickles on the long voyage. Byrd is taking 60 men, and the chief steward's list of supplies reads something like this: Two tons of ham, three of bacon, five of beef eggs will be carried, two tons of tinned butter, and one of chicken. Five hundred cases of a ton of powder milk. Twelve thousand pounds of cookies and a ton of jams, jellies and marmalade. The men will be equipped with 60 razors and 1200 packets of blades, nearly 9000 cakes of hand soap and 1200 stick of shaving soap. Five tons of dried fruits will be taken and two and one-half tons of candy.

Railroad Building Stops

There are 259,000 miles of railroad lines in this country, and since 1911 there has been relatively little change. Undoubtedly the automobile has eaten into the railroads' business. Freight that use to go by rail now goes over our highways. But this is not all. Who can predict the effect of air travel on the earnings of railroads will be, say ten years hence. Yes, we doubt if America builds many more miles of iron tracks.

Governor C. C. Young has no easy job ahead picking the next Lieutenant Governor since Buron Fitts has got himself elected District Attorney of Los Angeles. There will be a dozen patriots willing to sacrifice themselves on the altar of public service.

Now that vacation days are over we can begin to save up our dimes for football and Christmas shopping.

Only 31 per cent of the voters exercised their right last week all of which goes to show again that it takes a fight to pack the house.

STATE ITEMS

The War Department has given its final approval of the new California National Guard Cantonment at San Luis Obispo, Adjt.-Gen. R. E. Mittelstaedt, State head of the guards, announces. The approval came following inspection of the camp by Lieut.-Col. F. A. Pope, Engineers Corps, U. S. A. Pope, who has inspected cantonments in several States, informed California authorities that the San Luis Obispo site is one of the best he has ever seen and the most desirable from the training standpoint.

Fire starting through a short circuit in the wiring completely destroyed the old I. N. Parlier home, a landmark constructed 51 years ago by the founder of the town, I. N. Parlier. No one was in the home at the time but a few pieces of furniture were saved.

Driving down by automobile from Burlingame, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh paid a surprise call to the campus of the Palo Alto school of aviation last week. He visited the Guggenheim aerodynamics laboratory and returned by automobile to Burlingame.

Clem J. Hart, 21-year-old son of a retired Methodist minister in Topeka, Kan., is being held to answer to the Superior Court on charges of passing worthless checks in several Central California cities and was remanded to jail in lieu of $1000 cash bail.

Smoldering embers along seven miles of devastated foothills and charred stumps of what were majestic redwood trees, an ash-covered forest, mark the end of an eight-day forest fire which swept across the San Bernardino range.

Just how intimately the frog is tied in with Angels Camp's daily life is revealed in information from Jesse M. Mayo, editor of the Calaveras-California, published in Angels Camp. The little town has adopted her official slogan: "Angels Camp, the home of the Jumping Frog." Citizens of the town are now attempting to copyright the name. Two large signboards bearing the slogan, and with a big yellow and green frog painted thereon, greet the visitor as he drives in.

Le Grand is assuming an atmosphere of activity with construction work proceeding on the new cotton gin and with the county work gang busy with preparations for paving the seven-mile strip of road to connect that city with the State highway. The big rock crusher at the Wright place on the Mariposa creek is making rock of three sizes and sand of three grades to be hauled to the mixing plant where it will be used in the preparation of the asphaltum cement with which the road will be paved.

Continued improvement in the forest fire situation has been reported by State and Federal rangers. All the big fires that for weeks past have defied an army of fighters were pronounced under control. Stanislaus forest fires, that had devastated 56,000 acres, was so far subdued that a handful of men was reported "mopping up" with portable pump and hose. Mokelumne River fire, started on the south fork by lightning, was checked after burning 500 acres of timber outside the Stanislaus reserve.

With delegates present from all parts of California, the biennial motor vehicle conference held in San Francisco urged with practical unanimity that similar and uniform traffic laws, enforced by road traffic police under central control, make up the vital needs of automobile regulation. Other suggestions were: Placing of lighted signals at railroad crossings with penalties for disregarding them; more rigid regulation of brakes and headlights; stricter supervision of operators' certificates and license plates; issuance of license plates from offices of county assessors; general raising of speed limits; restrictions on the use of sirens and a standardized code of regulating motor trucks.

Future distinguished graduates of the University of California will receive more than public acclaim and a medal of honor as a result of action taken by the Regents. A prize of $125 in cash has been added to the University Medal awarded annually to the most distinguished graduate of the institution.

There are still 200,000 horses in California, as compared with 295,000 last year, a decline of 2 per cent, while there was no change in the estimated number of mules, a tribute to the latter animal's worth as a laborer where the tractor is not economical. Horses of all ages average $73 per head in value today as compared with $76 a year ago, while the mule's worth has declined from $89 to $83 per animal in the same period.

More than 300 carloads of cantaloupes shipped in one month from South Dos Palos in Merced county, approximately 10,000 bales of cotton to be picked this fall, a bumper crop of rice awaiting the harvester, a large output of mint oil; these are some of the developments attained in less than three years time in the Western San Joaquin Valley.

The appeal from the conviction of the six convicts, sentenced to hang for their part in the murder riot at Folsom prison last Thanksgiving Day has been filed with the State Supreme Court. The transcript of the trial covered 2212 typewritten pages. Arguments by defense and prosecuting counsel will probably be heard in November, court attaches declared. The six men sentenced to death for the killing of Trusty George Baker are Roy Stokes, Anthony Brown, Walter E. Burke, James H. Gregg, Albert M. Stewart and James Gleason. Stewart turned State's evidence.

California a few days ago forced the Grizzly bear on the Great Seal of the State to lie down peacefully and eat grapes. The "bear tamer" was Marc J. Rowe, of Los Angeles, declared by State Printer Carroll H. Smith to be the first artist capable of making the California Grizzly "crouch at the feet of Minerva and feed on a cluster of grapes," as the first State Legislature told him to do. Rowe's sketch of a new State seal for all future government printing was accepted. It will replace a half dozen other seals in which the bear ranged all the way from the cinnamon to the polar species.

The Spirit of St. Louis, which carried Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh from San Diego to Paris and fame, was California's outstanding contribution to the aviation world during 1927. Statistics compiled by the United States Commerce Department showed that during the year sixty-one airplane manufacturing establishments in the United States turned out 1857 planes valued at $12,024,085, and 105 seaplanes and amphibians valued at $2,295,530. California reported nine airplane manufacturing establishments in operation, being tied with Michigan for second place. The Spirit of St. Louis was built near San Diego.

California's first serious attempt at rehabilitation of narcotic drug addicts began a few days ago. The State Narcotic Hospital officially opened its doors at Pacific Lodge, near Pomona, Los Angeles county, and final arrangements were being made for handling the first patients. Dr. Thomas F. Joyce, medical superintendent of the new hospital, is now touring State institutions to select inmates addicted to narcotics who will be transferred to Southern California for treatment. The first group of patients will number approximately fifty.

State employees should be pensioned after thirty years' service from a fund created by monthly payments of employees and matched by an equal amount from the State, the State pension commission was told by approximately 100 State employees at a hearing in the senate chamber at Sacramento last week. The minimum pension would be $30 monthly with a disability clause after ten years of service. The State should also refund the amount that the employee had paid in if death should occur before reaching the age of retirement, the commission was told.

ONE EVERY 3 MILES

Placing of a cross along the roadside for every person killed in an automobile accident within the last ten years would mean one to approximately every three miles of improved highway in the United States.

This statement, issued yesterday by the California State Automobile Association, is based on a death toll on the streets and highways of about 175,000 within the last decade and a present system of 600,000 miles of improved roads. D. V. Nicholson, assistant secretary and head of the Automobile Association's Public Safety Department, said that if these crosses were confined to one transcontinental highway—such as the Lincoln Highway, stretching 3,200 miles across the country—there would be over five crosses to every mile of highway.

The State Automobile Association through its Public Safety Department and in cooperation with other organizations is conducting a consistent campaign to diminish the traffic hazard on streets and highways in California and is working with 1046 other motor clubs affiliated with the American Automobile Association to secure a coordinated effort to this end found to be the appalling number throughout the nation.

"Careful estimates of the total of 26,000 human lives," Nicholson highway facilities for 1927 is said today. "A conservative estimate of the ratio of personal injury highway accidents to fatalities is 29 to one. This gives an estimated total of 725,00 personal injury accidents.

California motorists, taking stock of their national gain from the session of Congress just closed find themselves over $8,000,000 to the good, according to a statement issued today by the California State Automobile Association which describes this as the greatest national victory in the history of motordom.

Legislation passed and signed by President Coolidge carries with it a material monetary saving to every future purchaser of a new automobile and at the same time assures Federal Government support in the completion of California's great system of highways. A campaign with these objectives in view has been carried on during the past year by the American Automobile Association and its 1046 affiliated American Automobile Clubs. The State Automobile Association has been one of the leaders in this fight.

Here are the benefits to California motorists as summarized to day by D. E. Watkins, secretary and general manager of the Automobile Association.

1.—An annual saving of $4,500,000 annually on the purchase of new cars, or an individual saving of $30 on a car priced at $1,000 f. o. b. factory, and proportionate savings on higher and lower priced cars. This reduction is already in effect.

2.—Federal aid to the extent of $2,400,000 annually for use on the Federal Aid system of highways in California is assured for at least three years to come.

3.—Further Federal aid to the extent of $1,000,000 annually assured for three years for construction of forest roads in California.

4.—Improvement of roads in the Presidio of San Francisco and Fort Baker with expenditure of $104,000 and a new bridge appropriation of $35,000 for Hoopa Valley Indian Reservation.

Montezuma School Opens Auspiciously

Montezuma Mountain School, founded in 1910, has opened for the fall semester with the biggest enrollment in its history. Among its prominent students this year is Bryan Hargraves, grandson of William Jennings Bryan. A new feature of the curriculum is a ground course in aviation, taught by experienced aviators and supplemented with proper equipment.

RUEL E. GATES PASSES AWAY

Ruel E. Gates, a native of Wisconsin, died in San Jose Sunday, Sept. 2, at the age of 78 years and five months. Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon from the chapel of Hocking and Williams under the auspices of Morning Light Lodge, I. O. O. F. of Campbell, of which he was a past noble grand, and interment made at Oak Hill.

Mr. Gates was one of the pioneers of Campbell and has a brother, L. L. Gates, and a sister, Mrs. Bess Gates Cutting, still living here.

Besides these two, Mr. Gates is survived by three other sisters, his wife, Susan M. Gates and 11 children, nine of whom are living in San Jose.

STATE TO PROFIT BY THE OLYMPIAD

The country as well as the cities will profit greatly through the holding during several months of 1932 of the world Olympic Games in California, according to directors of the California Tenth Olympiad Association. It is pointed out that the several thousands of visitors who will come to the States during that year will create a great demand for farm and orchard products, and that agriculturists generally will find an unprecedented market at their very doors.

Money spent in the city means money spent in the country, they say. Many county chambers of commerce and other organizations in the rural districts throughout the State, realizing this fact, already have gone on record as endorsing proposition No. 2 on the November election ballot, which ratifies the action of the last State Legislature in appropriating $1,000,000 as the State's share of the expenses of staging the world Games.

It is added that, as the games, which include mountain sports, rowing, yachting and other events, as well as track and field contests and art competitions, will be held in various parts of the State, visitors will take the opportunity to tour all of California and the $1,000,000 the state proposes to give will yield a great many millions in money the visitors will spend.

Mrs. A. Y. Hoag, who was injured in an auto accident last week, is resting as well as can be expected, but will be disabled for some time. She suffered a broken nose, and injured her wrist and back.

CUTTING-PROSSER WEDDING WED.

Francis Douglass Cutting and Florence Elizabeth Prosser were married Wednesday morning, September 5th, at the home of the groom's parents in Campbell. The Rev. B. St. John of Woodside performed the ceremony, assisted by Rev. J. H. Bennett of Campbell.

Charles Chapman of Pacific Grove was best man and Miss Carola Orwell of Hollister, bridesmaid. The Cutting Studio on Harrison St. was very prettily decorated for the occasion in pink penstemon, Michaelmas daisy, ferns, and breath of heaven.

The wedding is the conclusion of a romance at the San Jose State Teachers' College, where both were very popular students last year. The groom, who is the elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Harry Cutting of Campbell, where he has spent many of his boyhood years, has secured a position with the Peninsular Rapid Transit Co., but the bride will continue her studies for another year.

The young people will make their home at 327½ St. John St., San Jose. The good wishes of a host of friends go with them.

HIGH REGISTRATION WED. AND THURS.

Registration for the coming term at the Campbell high school will be in order Wednesday and Thursday of next week between the hours of 9 and 5 on both days. Preparations for a heavy enrollment are under way, according to Principal Cramer.

HOOVERISMS

Constructive government is not conducted on slogans; it is built on sound statesmanship. Democracy cannot survive without a large supply of capable leadership and a willingness of the citizen to exercise his right of franchise.

The beating of tom tom, throwing of mud, malice and hate and lies, slinging of phrases and slogans are no contribution to national judgment.

The American woman in the kitchen does not want gifts; the most precious thing in her life is an honest-to-God job for her man.

It is always the children who are ground in the mills of international disputes, and honest charity inquires no further than that.

From education comes that inspiration of the spirit that leads men and women from slavery.

If we let the churches, their auxiliaries, and the schools fail this generation the heritage left to those that follow will afford little enough of what has made America a land of promise to humanity.

An Extension Telephone by your Bedside..... is Aid and Protection in Emergencies

Sleep is better and safer when there is an extension telephone by your bedside. Calls to neighbors, fire department or police may be made instantly when the telephone is within reach.

Extension telephones are needed not only in emergencies. Wisely placed extensions save miles of steps in running up and down stairs and from one part of the house to another. They prevent embarrassment in making or answering calls when others are present. They avoid the loss of calls through failure to answer promptly.

In building a new house or in renting or buying a home, make sure that there is provision for adequate telephone service with the necessary extensions. Adequate telephone equipment is an essential modern convenience.

And it is very inexpensive. Extension telephones with all their protection and convenience cost only a few cents a week. Ask our Business Office to advise with you regarding the proper telephone equipment of your home for the greatest comfort, protection and saving of time.
